

Daily Patrol Self-Assessment Form

- The assessment process is meant to provide patrol members with hands-on experience in making assessments. It may also give you fresh insights into ways the patrol can more effectively develop into a high-performance team.
- The Daily Patrol Self-Assessment takes place each morning during or just after breakfast. Members use the following discussion points to assess their patrol's activities of the previous 24 hours.
- The evaluation is discussed only within the patrol. It is not shared with the patrol leaders' council or the rest of the troop.
- A copy of each day's assessment form should be kept in the Patrol Leader's Notebook for future reference.

Date _____ Patrol Name _____

Purpose and Values

- What has been the purpose of our patrol in the last 24 hours?
- Upon what values have we based our patrol activities?

Empowerment

- How are we seeking out the resources and abilities we need to achieve our goals?

Relationships and Communications

- In what ways are we relating and communicating well with one another?
- How can we improve our methods of relating and communicating?

Flexibility

- How have we exhibited flexibility?

Optimal Productivity

- What has been our level of productivity?
- What might be preventing us from becoming fully productive?

Recognition and Appreciation

- How have we recognized and appreciated the efforts of fellow patrol members?
- How have our efforts as a patrol been recognized and appreciated by others?

Morale

- What is the status of our patrol's morale?
- What steps might we take to enhance it?
